Activity 14.1 Engaged Teaching Inventory

What your scores mean:

Expert: 9.25
Has the expertise and information that students need. Displays detailed subject knowledge and challenges students to enhance their competence. Focused on transmitting clear and accurate information to ensure that students are well prepared.

Advantage: Is a reliable resource of information, knowledge, and skills.
Disadvantage: Inexperienced students may be overwhelmed by detail. The focusing on presenting subject matter may give short shrift to the underlying thought processes that produced answers.

Formal Authority: 8
Acknowledged by students because of subject knowledge and role as faculty member. Provides feedback (both positive and negative); establishes learning goals, expectations, and rules of conduct for students. Concerned with the "correct, acceptable, and standard way to do things.

Advantage: The focus on expectations and acceptable ways of doing things gives students a solid roadmap to follow.
Disadvantage: A strong investment in this style can lead to inflexible standardization that may not adequately address the spectrum of student concerns.

Personal Model: 9.25

Teaches by personal example, serves as a model for students regarding how to think and behave. Oversees, guides, and directs students by showing them how to do things. Encourages students to observe and emulate the instructor's approach.

Advantage: The "hands-on" nature of the approach. An emphasis on direct observation and following a role model.
Disadvantage: Students who deviate from the instructor's preferred approach (for whatever reason) may feel inadequate or as if they are not meeting expectations

Facilitator: 9.75

Focuses on the personal nature of teacher/student interactions. Directs students by asking questions, exploring options, suggesting alternatives, and encouraging them to develop criteria to make informed choices. Aims to foster students' capacity for independent action and responsibility. Consults with students on projects and provides support and encouragement.

Advantage: Personal flexibility, focus on students' needs and goals, and willingness to explore options and alternative courses of action.
Disadvantage: Often time-consuming. Can be ineffective if a more didactic approach is needed. Can make some students uncomfortable if it is not used in a positive and affirming manner.

Delegator: 7.5

Concerned with developing students' capacity to function autonomously. Students work independently on projects or as part of autonomous teams. The teacher as resource is available at the student's request.

Advantage: Students come to see themselves as empowered and independent learners.
Disadvantage: May overestimate students' readiness for independent work. Lack of structure and clear guidelines may leave some students anxious and/or overwhelmed
